

KATHY WILSON

Get Ready for Change!

How many times have you said you wanted to change something about yourself, your work, or your life for the better? Change seems to be the buzz word everywhere. But how do you successfully bring about lasting change? How do you stay motivated to achieve your goals? How do you tap into the power to create what you desire in both your professional and personal life? And, most importantly, how do you break through the barriers that seem to be keeping you stuck?

Kathy Wilson, a former star collegiate and professional basketball player and coach, is an experienced organizational training and development facilitator, author, speaker and a leading authority on powerful behavioral change and leadership strategies. Balancing the lessons she learned on the basketball court with her knowledge in the areas of leadership coaching and organizational management, Kathy brings a unique perspective to the concept of break-through self-mastery that allows you to create positive change in your personal and professional life. In a day and age when everyone is trying to “make things happen” and “make some changes”, Kathy can give you the tools and strategies to understand just how to do it.

Is your team, company, or organization looking for a refreshing voice that can bring an exciting view on what it takes to succeed at work and at home? Dare to deliver a transformational experience with a high-energy speaker who will leave your audience motivated, inspired, informed, and entertained (with strategies they can use right away!). Kathy's highly-requested speaking and presentation topics are guaranteed to resonate and educate and she is always more than happy to customize a powerful topic for your group or organization.
